NOTICE.
Those of our advertisers who desire changes made in their advertisements, must hand in copy on Monday morning next.

All communications, either of an editorial or business character, should be addressed to HILTON & CAMPBELL, box 18, Stanford, Ky.
All notices sent to the editor, unless otherwise ordered or expressed to be at the publisher's risk.
James Cook is the authorized agent at Hustonville to collect for Job Work. Advertisers, attend to subscription, and receive all notices for the same.

To Our Subscribers.
Our subscribers are respectfully notified that we employ no collectors. All sums due us must be paid to one of the proprietors of this Journal, or in our absence, to our foreman, if you desire proper credit therefor.

Please Renew.
Those of our subscribers who find a cross mark after their names are notified that their term expires with that number, and are earnestly requested to renew. We thank many of our friends for prompt renewals, and so far have refused to continue our paper. We will in all cases stop your paper when the time for which you subscribed expires. Therefore, please authorize us to continue if you desire to aid in supporting this institution. Our terms are invariably in advance.

Religious.
Rev. A. D. Rash will preach at the Baptist church at this place on Sunday night next.
Rev. G. C. Overstreet will preach at the M. E. church on next Sunday morning and evening.

Rev. G. O. Barnes will preach at 11 o'clock, A. M., and at 4 P. M. in the upper room of the courthouse on next Lord's day.

A protracted meeting, conducted by Elder John I. Rogers, of the Christian church, is in progress at Richmond, Ky.

Elder J. W. Harding, of Winchester, held a protracted meeting at Union Church, Madison county, Ky., last week, which resulted in seventy-eight additions to the fold of Christ.

The protracted meeting of the Christian church at Athens, closed last Sunday; twenty-five additions having been made to the church under the efficient preaching of Elder Kelly.

The protracted meeting which had been in progress at Crab Orchard, conducted by Rev. A. D. Rash, closed on Monday night last. The good seed sown by this able and devoted minister will be harvested at the proper season. There were no additions to the church, but the earnest, thoughtful attention given to the preacher during the meetings may result in the conversion of many souls.

Personal.
Our friend Jas. B. Green, the popular hotel clerk, for many years at the National Hotel, Louisville, is now at Alexander's Hotel, corner Eighth and Main streets, where he will be pleased to have his many friends call and see him.

W. H. McCarty, special agent of the Watertown Fire Insurance Company, of Watertown, New York, visits our town in the interest of his company this week. Mr. McCarty is an efficient fire insurance man and represents a good company.

We regret to announce the departure of our clever young friend John Bogle from our midst. John has been residing in our town only a few months, and was universally popular with old and young. He is a thorough druggist, a gentleman of unexceptionable morals, and will prove an honor to any community in which he may be called to reside.

Matrimonial.
On the 21st inst., at the residence of the bride's father, in Wayne county, Kentucky, by F. S. Shearer, Mr. L. J. STEPHENSON to Miss SALLIE JONES. They stepped through our city on the 4th inst., accompanied by Jas. Phillips and wife, of Monticello, to visit the cities of Louisville and Cincinnati. May their happiness be long.

At the residence of the bride's mother, in this county on Thursday evening the 10th, by Rev. A. D. Rash, THOMAS D. NEWLAND to Miss ELIZA MENEFEE.

Our young friends about town, inform us that the affair at R. Cobb's, Esq., on the occasion of the marriage of Miss Kate, on Thursday the 3rd inst., was the most pleasant of the season. To Mrs. Cobb we return thanks for a large share of good things sent us. Nothing is as soothing to the vanity of newspaper men, as to be remembered on such occasions.

Medical Association.
The Central Kentucky Medical Association will hold its next regular meeting at Stanford, Wednesday, October 16th, on which occasion Dr. Steele Bailey will open the discussion on the "Therapeutic effects of Mercury," and Dr. W. F. McClellan, U. S. A., report on the "Progress of Surgery, Anatomy and Surgical Pathology." Written reports of cases, and voluntary papers on interesting medical subjects will be presented by different members of the Association.

These meetings are gradually growing in importance and usefulness, elevating a noble profession and working a great good for the community at large. A large attendance is expected.

Our Nick.
As we go to press this morning we learn that Elder J. B. Warren, who has been dangerously ill for some weeks with bronchitis, is some better, and hopes of his speedy recovery are entertained by his many friends.

Mrs. Thomas Bruce has been suffering with a severe spell of fever for the past ten days. She is reported to be better this morning.

Mrs. Sim. Hicks has been quite ill with fever for the past two weeks. We are glad to announce that she is much better this morning.

Death of Miss Lizzie Withers.
The death of this charming and beautiful young lady, who cast a glow over our entire community. Wherever she was known, she was loved and respected. In the May morning of life she has been stricken down. Truly, in the life of life we are in death. Let us not mourn as those that have no hope, for her life was that of the Christian, although fallen, she will rise again to newness of life, and live a shining angel in the better land.

Notice.
All persons indebted to the undersigned for (shredding) are notified that their accounts are now ready, and are respectfully reminded that such work is cash on demand.
JOHN H. BRIGHT.

NEW supply of Croquet sets received at W. H. Anderson's drug store.

LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

The Female College has about seventy-five pupils.
High Aaron Harding, we are glad to hear, is rapidly convalescing.

Col. R. M. Bradley was in town yesterday, on important professional business.

Sandifer was asked the other day by a green one, if he charged any more for taking a picture with his cap on.

County Court and Court of Claims meet next Monday, and Circuit Court meets the following Monday.

The prisoners in jail complain a "good deal" of the frosty weather, and are clamoring for a little fire. They ought to have it.

The Male Seminary is being put in good repair by Bob Weaver, the builder. New glass and new shutters will make it all right.

The call of the farmer, so well known to the hope, is heard from early dawn. There will be a very large "crop" of hogs this year.

Mr. N. B. Travis advertises his farm for sale in another column. It is an excellent small farm, and has two very fine orchards on it.

A fine two-story house has just been completed at the shop of Wm. Daugherty. It is one of the best houses we have seen in our town.

Large numbers of the people from the country, come to town every day—looking over the fine stocks of goods on sale by our enterprising merchants.

The Commercial Hotel, with its handsome exterior, is an ornament to our town. Mr. Carson, the proprietor, deserves credit for this enterprise.

Mr. C. A. Winchester, of Louisville, has been quite ill, at a hotel in this place, since Friday last, but we are glad to announce that he is now convalescent.

The present Fall is the most backward we have known for many years. The leaves are as green as they were in July, except a few sumacs and swamp maples.

Madam Russell and daughter came to town the other day to make up a dancing class, but owing to their inability to rent a hall and a piano, they left immediately.

The death of Miss Lizzie Withers, second daughter of our countryman H. S. Withers, causes a gloom over our entire community. She was a bright and charming young woman.

F. G. Brady has a small shoe in his shop, which was made by a workman who was formerly in his employ. The shoe has not a single seam in it, and is quite a novelty in the shoe line.

Harrodsburg has Chenoweth Hall, Danville has James' Hall, Lancaster has a City Hall, Stanford has nothing of the kind. Who will have the enterprise and good sense to build one?

Twenty-five hundred dollars would have been sufficient to put a third story on the Farmer's National Bank building, and it would have made a hall about 60x80 feet. It would have been a good investment.

J. M. Rochester & Co. have opened their large stock of family groceries, boots and shoes, notions, etc., and are offering to the trade great inducements. They are paying the highest market prices for country produce, and pay cash for hides. When you receive their circular, call on them.

F. G. Brady, the best and shoe-maker, has invented a useful and novel pattern for a shoe. The upper part is cut in a single piece, and the shoe, therefore, has but one seam. Mr. Brady has filed a patent in the patent office at Washington, and will, ere long, procure a patent upon his invention. We give two lines of notice to our useful and energetic mechanic. Let us more fully appreciate them.

JOB work done promptly, and in the best manner, at this office.
Salut Asph.

And who was Saint Asph, you ask? Well, we can't tell you who he or she was, but we can tell you that our branch which has flowed by our town since the town was commenced, and for ages before the country was settled by Boone, or discovered by Columbus or Americus Vesputius, (one or the other) for aught we know, was once called "Saint Asph's Branch." How, or why it was so called, no one can tell, but the "oldest inhabitant." Suffice it to say that the records in our county court, assure us that this town branch was in 1786, called by this name.

Time is a great blotter-out of all things. Even the best loved of all our friends and relatives, pass from our recollections, and we soon "know them no more forever."

Who can throw any light upon the cause of our "town branch" was once called "Saint Asph's Branch." We have searched the county records, running back for nearly a century, and still the darkness of dead years covers the name of Saint Asph, and we find nothing therein to tell us who this Saint was, or where, or how he or she lived. Probably some patron saint of old "Patrick" lived about the time of naming the town branch, whose deeds of good or evil, as the case might have been, were sufficient to merit such honor. If so, it must have been of short duration; for within the past three-fourths of a century, no other name has been known or recognized, except the "town branch."

Its ancient history is very brief. All we know thereof is, that on the 3rd of March, 1786, Benjamin Logan, of Logan's Fort fame, and in consideration of a considerable sum of money, decided to leave Shelby, John Logan, Wm. Montgomery and Hugh Logan, justices of Lincoln county, Ky., 25 acres of land lying along "Saint Asph's branch," and which said boundary then included the entire corporate limits of the town of Stanford. The witnesses to this strange deed were Joseph Russell and John Bailey.

These old records are full of interest to the present generation, and we heartily wish that some of our old citizens were able to give us fuller information concerning these ancient records. Incomplete as they are, and must forever remain, we the more desire to know that which seems to be clouded in perpetual gloom and darkness. Saint Asph is a mystery to us, and we presume will so remain for all time to come.

Large Potatoes.
Rough Phillips, of this county, showed us the other day, a "pair" of Brazilian sweet potatoes from one hill, which weighed twelve and a half pounds. The largest of them weighed eight and a half pounds; and was the finest yet we ever saw. Our climate and soil are finely adapted to the cultivation of this fine vegetable, and if we only knew how to preserve it through the winter, it would be a great addition to our stock of winter vegetables. Unfortunately, however, it is hard to keep, and Christmas usually finds us without it. Who can invent a safe way of keeping it?

FROM PULASKI COUNTY.

SOMERSET, Ky., Oct. 8th, 1872.

Correspondence Interior Journal.

I am glad to see that the subscription list to this valuable paper continues to increase. It is now a good advertising medium for our citizens, in having a good circulation in all parts of the county. Messrs. Hilton & Campbell are devoting considerable space to the interests of Pulaski, publishing anything and everything that will prove interesting and beneficial to the county. Those having farms, or town property for sale or for rent, cattle, mules, horses, hogs, for sale or desiring job work done in a neat style and cheap, would do well to have their advertisements inserted and send their orders to the Lexington JOURNAL, and we will urge those wishing a good and reliable paper for the friends, which gives all the latest and interesting events in their immediate localities, to give their names to the proprietors at Stanford or to their agent at Somerset.

J. R. INGRAM & SON
Have recently driven from our county a large drove of horses and mules to the Southern market and are yet buying. We wish these excellent traders and worthy gentlemen good luck. W. O. Newell is now in the South with stock, and Dray Rankin and a number of others will soon follow with their droves, all of which have been raised and purchased in our county.

Our Circuit Court closed on Thursday last, most of the civil business being continued. After the adjournment order was signed, one of our attorneys was asked the question "what luck?" He replied that he could make the same return made by one of our former sheriffs, "Out of date and nothing done."

T. Z. Morrow has erected a very neat law office of Main street near his residence. Tom is such a dear lover of home that we fear he will seldom visit the square when his new office is completed. The business blocks of J. W. Hall and C. Watt's heirs will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks.

FROM HUSTONVILLE.

HUSTONVILLE, Ky., October 8, 1872.

Correspondence Interior Journal.

The darkies have just set us an example in the matter of good order. On Saturday last a special term of Judge Lamm's court was called, and two young bloods of colored antecedents were put on trial, at the instance of officers and members of the African church, for disturbing religious worship on the preceding Sabbath. The testimony was full and clear as mud. The offense was flagrant, and the jury rendered a verdict of $20 fine and twenty days imprisonment against Chas. Ward, and $10 and ten days imprisonment against J. Thompson. The young gentlemen are finding cool reflection in the county jail.

On Saturday night, A. G. Talbot, Jr., while returning from Danville, driving a double team to a spring wagon, met with a very serious accident. He is supposed to have been thrown from his seat, and was found on the road near morning, in the edge of Millville, in an insensible condition. He was brought home and it was ascertained that his skull was fractured on the left side, and seven contusions and abrasions were found on his head, cooled in removing several fragments of bone, and the sufferer seems to be comparatively easy. The team kept the road for about half a mile after the accident, and then turned into the woods. It was found some Sunday afternoon, having been traced through some of the hardest roads to travel, and away from all roads, fastened, wagon and all, among the black-jacks.

You boasted last week of your city business, but you can't beat him in this line. Jim Green sent in, on last Saturday, Curd's wagon train from Nicholasville, the foremost vehicle carrying 15,000 pounds! It was loaded literally "from the ground up," and higher than we ever saw a wagon before. Others are receiving their stocks, and the town is busy.

FROM PINE HILL.

PINE HILL, KENTUCKY, October 9th, 1872.

Correspondence Interior Journal.

For some time we have failed to put in an appearance in your paper, from the fact that items of news or interest have failed to put in their appearance at Pine Hill for some time past. We have had no fights, no foot races, no marriages, no deaths, and but few births since our last communication; but we now have a singing school going on at Pine Hill church, gotten up and conducted by Irvin D. Stapp, and has a class of about fifty scholars, and from present appearances we will have a lively and interesting school.

We see on the list of your subscribers from this place that some of them ought to renew their subscription, as their time is about to expire, and we trust they will renew immediately, as we always like to see a bundle of your papers come in. The names of some of those whose time is about to expire are: Champ Mullins, chief engineer and conductor on the Pike's Peak coal road; John Owens, who lives at Cave City, but runs a saw mill at Harrodsburg; Dan Risley, our celebrated blacksmith and shoe maker; Fred Lee, board agent for P. D. Sine's lottery scheme; James Moberly, section boss on the railroad, and lives at the section house; E. T. Elliott, who keeps the Miner's Hotel at Middle Fork; William Bangor, tipping boss at Lick Skillet, and who was afflicted with the fever and lurch all last summer; Wm. Taylor, whose house was overthrown during the flood last Spring; W. R. Dillon, who keeps the Central Hotel, and runs a saw mill at Harrodsburg; and others whose names are drawing near.

We judge the character, and reading interest, of these gentlemen if they allow their names to be erased from your book, only for the lack of $1.00 for another six months' subscription. Come up, gentlemen, and send down another dollar and have your subscriptions renewed, and bring along a new subscriber, every one of you.

There was a jolly crowd of ladies and gentlemen from this county to Louisville, a short time ago, to attend the Exposition. A. J. Gresham, of Fish Point, informs us that there was a lady in their crowd who was capable of performing very wonderful and remarkable feats. She went to all the places of interest or amusement in the city. She could travel any and all the gaits, and could travel them fast or slow, but she generally traveled them fast; she could go the city, walk and put on city style; she could put on the Grecian bend, in all its varieties, and put on the Dolly Varden twist; and she could go the old country trot. She walked or trotted every one of the party down, one at a time, and she finally beat the next fastest lady a full foot race on the streets. She has returned home as gay and sprightly as ever, and continues to go all the gaits.

Our Circuit Court has recently closed its term at Mt. Vernon, without anything transpiring worthy of note. There were a good many indictments returned for

1,000 AGENTS WANTED

FOR THE

PEERLESS BEE-HIVE!!

Patented Dec. 26th, 1871, by J. S. PROCTER, Of Franklin, Kentucky.

To Bee-keepers Everywhere: The following points of excellence comprise a few of the many that may be truthfully claimed for my hive:

1. It is simple in construction, neat in appearance and is the most easily understood and managed movable comb frame ever invented.

2. The only material required in its construction is 20 feet of lumber, the nails necessary to fasten it together and a few small scraps of wire cloth to cover ventilators. Not a screw, nail, glue, or any other expensive material is used in its construction.

3. When properly used, it is the coolest hive for summer and as warm as the warmest for winter use, affording ample protection for the successful wintering of colonies on the same stand.

4. By its use the necessity for "honey boards" or "honey bars" is entirely dispensed with, while the chambers may be continued to suit the condition of any sized colony of from one single frame to ten, enabling the keeper to confine the animal heat to the space only occupied by the colony.

5. A less time and labor is required in handling, and the brood is less exposed than in using other first-class hives.

6. While it does not claim to be positively "moth proof" under all circumstances, yet it is provided with the least expensive and most effective device for the capture and destruction of moths and millers ever attached to a hive, and will do more to protect the bees from the ravages of that terrible scourge, than all the expensive and complicated "traps" ever invented and will in most cases afford perfect protection.

7. The construction is such that the frame and side-board fit equally well either the brood or surplus chamber.

8. A number of small colonies or nuclei may be kept in the same hive, or one or more may be kept in surplus chamber, receiving all the necessary natural warmth from the colony confined to the brood chamber.

Other advantages might be enumerated, but the above are deemed sufficient.

An examination of fifteen minutes, will, I believe, satisfy any disinterested, practical Apiarian, of the superiority of the over any, and all others; and the CHALLENGE is hereby made to any one who can produce a better one, under the same conditions, North, South, East or West.

Farm Rights and Sample Hive..... $10 00

Peerless Circular and Business Receipts..... 50

Territory will be sold very low to those willing to purchase, and the terms made easy. For further information, please send stamp, and address, plainly.
